Native American cultural artifacts and imagery often have been used for commercial or other purposes without any consideration to the cultures that produced them. How does cultural appropriation relate to Native American sovereignty, and how can indigenous intellectual properties be repatriated back into their communities?

Trevor Reed is associate professor in the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University. Cora Tso is proud member of the Navajo Nation, and graduated from the Indian Legal Program at the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law.