Join us for a discussion on the decline of white evangelicalism, the increase of "none of the above," the browning of American Christianity, and the Catholic divide, and how these trends challenge our conventional understandings of faith and politics.

Diana Butler Bass is an American historian of Christianity and an advocate for progressive Christianity. Bass is the author of eleven books, many of which have won research or writing awards.

Cosponsored with The Common Ministry at WSU