

The Indian boarding schools tragedy

Thursday February 9 | 12pm
Foley Speaker's Room | 308 Bryan Hall

For over a century, tens of thousands of Native American children were forced into federal boarding schools, where they were subjected to widespread atrocities. A government report suggests thousands are buried in marked and unmarked graves across the country.

Theresa Sheldon is the Director of Policy and Advocacy at the National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition and is a citizen of the Tulalip Tribes.

