Spokane’s Thomas S. Foley was the first Speaker of the House from the west. Join the authors of a new book, Tom Foley: The Man in the Middle, to discuss how his deep commitment to bi-partisanship and institution building compares to today’s polarized and angry politics.

Kenton Bird (left) is professor emeritus at the University of Idaho and John Pierce (right) is former dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Washington State University and affiliate professor at the University of Kansas.