All About Avian Influenza

If you have poultry or know someone who does, please read through this material and use the links as needed. Currently, the surveillance areas are for 10 kilometers/about 6.2 miles and for 30 days from the point of origin, current information at https://agr.wa.gov/departments/animals-livestock-and-pets/avian-health/avian-influenza/bird-flu-2022, you can see when and where there are confirmed cases around the state. This first one is the updated WSDA website it has the daily update and a brand-new interactive quarantine area map. There is also a new map showing all of the positive locations in the U.S. As of May 17th, at 10 AM there are eight confirmed positive backyard flocks (small flocks), in eight different counties in the State of WA.

Fairs will make their own decisions but remember it is still early for most fairs to make a call on hosting poultry shows at county/community fairs and the surveillance is for 30 days. At this time, this is not a quarantine other than for the properties that have been depopulated.

Currently, migrations of wild waterfowl are the major mode/vector/fomite that is spreading Avian Influenza. However, attention to bio-security practices should be enhanced so that we (people) and our modes of transportation as well as other animals do not become fomites. There is MUCH more information below and many links to help answer your questions and a link to watch a recorded broadcast via YouTube with our WA State Veterinarian Dr. Amber Itle from 5/12/22.

Pam Watson, WSU Lewis County Extension 4-H and Poultry

There will be another live broadcast but with ODA/OSU this coming week if you want to catch a live interaction. You must pre-register to participate, you can register here (blue link).

All poultry enthusiasts are welcome to attend a free online webinar to learn about the Avian Flu, an infectious viral disease affecting birds.

Dr. Ryan Scholz, ODA State Veterinarian will be sharing information about the potential risk in Oregon and practices to help protect your flocks.

There will be a Q&A following the presentation. To join us on Thursday, May 19, 6-7 PM, please register at https://beav.es/iwh Avian Influenza in Washington State – What all bird owners should know and think about …

Avian Influenza is in Washington State and since birds use a flyway and don’t stick to the freeways it should be considered everywhere. Be extra careful during wild bird migration seasons (spring and fall) particularly wild waterfowl, to protect your flock from infectious diseases. Where possible keep birds inside or undercover and check coops, pens, and poultry houses regularly for areas that allow wild birds to perch, nest, or interact with domesticated fowl. Learn more about biosecurity at: bit.ly/DefendtheFlock-Resources (available in several languages).
Please report any unusual or high rates of illness or death in your flocks: WSDA Sick Bird Hotline at 1-800-606-3056.

For food safety questions, call WSDA Food Safety Program at 1-360-902-1876

AVIAN INFLUENZA – HOW POULTRY OWNERS CAN PROTECT THEIR FLOCK

Below is a recording of a 2021 WSDA webinar on highly pathogenic avian influenza (HPAI) and steps poultry owners can take to protect their birds from this disease. In this webinar you will learn:

- What HPAI is and signs to look for in your flock
- How the global conditions are similar to the 2014/2015 outbreak of HPAI that reached Washington
- What effective biosecurity means and practical steps you can take to protect your flock
- Where to find additional resources about biosecurity
- When and how to report bird health issues, including suspected avian influenza

You can watch the avian influenza webinar on YouTube.

4-H International Exchange Program Update

4-H INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE PROGRAM SEEKING HOST FAMILIES
JULY to AUGUST 2022

Have you ever wanted to experience another culture through hosting? Consider opening your home to a short-term visiting delegate. This summer we have twelve young people aged 13-15 visiting from Japan for about a month. We are looking for host families who have a child in the home of the same gender and within three years of age of the delegate. The 4-H International Exchange program is a learning opportunity that allows one to learn about another culture, develop friendships and learn something about oneself. Delegates are here to experience cultural immersion, not tourism, so there are no required gatherings, tours or site seeing requirements. We are looking for families who will open their hearts to a short-term international experience. Although this is a 4-H opportunity, families do not need to be in 4-H to participate.

DATES: Sunday July 24-Monday August 15
REQUIREMENTS: A youth in the home of the same gender and within three years of age of the delegate, an open heart and an open mind. Screening process involves an application, references, background check and home interview.

For more information contact Carolyn Russo, carolyn.russo@wsu.edu

To start a host family application, visit https://www.states4hexchange.org/apply/host/

Or learn more by visiting the national page www.states4hexchange.org

This week, we are featuring three boys who are looking for host families (contact Carolyn if you would like the full list of delegates)

Delegates are placed on a first fully screened basis.

Hiroto, age 13—Hiroto enjoys video games, watching sports and movies. He plays soccer and snowboards. He is energetic, sociable, curious, outgoing, talkative and honest. Hiroto loves studying natural science because someday he wants to travel to space to see stars and experience weightlessness. He enjoys anime, computer games and soccer. His goal for this summer is to talk with his host family in English, play soccer with them and make a good relationship.

Masaki, age 14—Masaki enjoys swimming, nature/outdoors, cats/dogs, running, shopping, watching soccer and drama on TV. He is considerate of others, outgoing, loves to laugh, cheerful, curious and energetic. His favorite school subject is PE. Hiroto enjoys playing dodgeball, tag and running outside with his friends. Masaki’s favorite movie is Spiderman. His hobbies include fishing, kendo, athletics and cars. He is eager to experience his homestay and work on his English.

Colville Reservation 4-H Project Contributes to Rangeland Rehabilitation

Celebrating Earth Day and caring for the Earth should be more than just one day of the year. Colville Reservation youth are demonstrating this by contributing to the rehabilitation of the rangelands on the Colville Indian Reservation.

WSU Colville Reservation Extension 4-H program is partnering and collaborating with Colville Tribal and Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) Natural Resource programs to teach youth how to make seed bombs to attract pollinators. The youth also get to learn about wildland fire and the damage that it causes to the lands. The objective of this project is to promote environmental stewardship and awareness in youth by encouraging them to take an active role in helping the environment.

“We have developed the Seed Bomb project as a form of citizen science, to help rehabilitate and rejuvenate the burned rangelands” stated Linda McLean, Director/FRTEP 4-H Extension Educator for WSU Colville Reservation Extension 4-H Program. McLean went on to say, “In the summer of 2021, the Colville Reservation was ravaged by wildfire. This project allows for reservation youth to learn about the damage that wildfire can create and how they can help heal the Earth.”

Creating and distributing seed bombs will allow plants to grow and attract pollinators to the area. In addition to gaining education, the youth are directly contributing to the healing of the burned lands by dispersing their seed bombs on the burned areas. These seed bombs will lay in wait for natural rainwater to melt away the clay, water the soil, sprout the seeds, and then grow beautiful native plants. These plants will attract pollinators to the area, but they will also help with restoring the environment.
To date, we have worked with four schools and two Boys & Girls Clubs, for a total of 528 students. During the presentation, on average, each student makes five seed bombs. We have one more school and one more afterschool program scheduled. We will also be providing this activity during two community events.

The seed bombs are made with three ingredients: air dry clay; potting soil; and a native seed mix specially blended for the Colville Reservation. The seed mix is comprised of native plants that naturally grow on the reservation and will attract pollinators. This will benefit the wild plants as well as the local agriculture crops by attracting pollinators to the area. The plan is, once the seed bombs are dry, we will take the students on a field trip out to a burn area, and they will distribute the seed bombs. The goal is to have the seed bombs grow plants to help regenerate and revitalize the Colville Reservation rangelands.
While we used a specialty seed mix, you could easily create the seed bombs using a wildflower mixture or even a vegetable seed mixture for edible plants or grass seed mixture for erosion control areas.

If you would like to create Seed Bombs, please visit this link https://youtu.be/rcF5V9FhNhY and view the short video. It contains easy-to-follow instructions on how to make seed bombs. This Seed Bomb project is a good companion project for the 4-H At Home Pollinators issue. To access this issue and some fun activities about pollinators, please visit https://4-h.org/about/4-h-at-home/pollinators/. You will find information and activities to enhance knowledge about pollinators. The activities include simple craft projects that can be made with easy-to-find items.

Reining for Seniors New This Year at 4-H State Fair

New this year will be reining for seniors at the 4-H State Fair. There has been an “ad hoc” committee of staff and volunteers who know reining very well. As a result of our meetings—this what will be the reining pattern at the 2022 4-H State Fair along with the scoresheet. The ad hoc committee is also planning a “Reining 101” zoom education for leaders; parents; staff and youth to get an introduction to reining on May 12th at 6:30. This “Reining 101” will discuss the pattern and hoping to have a video of the pattern being ridden by experienced reiners and answer any questions that counties may have.

The ad hoc committee’s next task over the summer is to review other state 4-H reining curriculum for availability next fall. If your county is looking at implementing reining at your county qualifying show/fair—please let me know so that we can be of assistance. Because reining is a higher-level skill—the State Fair board is requiring qualification at the county fair or qualifying event.

COVID-19 RESOURCES

4-H COVID-19 HEALTH AND SAFETY PROTOCOLS
UPDATED MARCH 12, 2022

Washington State University has adopted the Governor’s updated mask policy which is effective March 12, 2022. This policy eliminates the general masking requirement in both indoor and outdoor situations, unless specifically required for a particular location for health reasons (such as clinics). Also eliminated is the general requirement for social distancing among vaccinated individuals. WSU has extended the relaxation of the masking and distancing requirements to those employees who have exemptions from the vaccine requirement (for religious or medical reasons) and have approved accommodations at their workplace.

WSU Extension has therefore adopted the following:
Vaccination Requirements Continue

The vaccine mandate for WSU employees and volunteers remains in place. WSU employees and volunteers must be fully vaccinated or have an approved exemption with an accommodation on file to engage in work with WSU Extension.

Masking Policy Changes

WSU Extension has adopted the Governor’s mask policy effective March 12, 2022. This policy eliminates the general masking requirement in both indoor and outdoor situations, unless specifically required for a particular location such as health care settings and public transportation. This extends to individuals who have an approved accommodation based on a medical or religious exemption, who no longer are required to wear a mask as a condition of that accommodation.

Social Distancing Changes

WSU Extension applies the relaxation of social distancing requirements to those volunteers who are fully vaccinated or have an approved exemption with an accommodation (for religious or medical reasons) on file at their workplace or county office.

PLEASE NOTE – individual offices and locations may continue to require masking and/or distancing at the office level for all office programs in light of local risks and conditions.
