Vaccination Mandate Lifted For All 4-H Volunteers

In coordination with Washington State University, CAHNRS Extension and the State of Washington, Washington State 4-H will no longer require 4-H volunteers to receive either a COVID-19 vaccination or an approved Religious or Medical Exemption as of October 31, 2022.

The memorandum from WSU Extension Associate Dean and Director Vicki McCracken to all Extension faculty, staff and volunteers can be viewed HERE.

What does this mean for WSU 4-H Extension volunteers (Leaders)?

- Volunteers who chose to take a leave of absence during the 2021-22 4-H Year may return to active status in 2023.
- New volunteers who apply to become WSU Extension 4-H Volunteers during the 2022-23 4-H year are not required to be vaccinated against COVID-19.

Washington 4-H sincerely thanks the volunteers who have helped navigate the program through uncharted territory over the past couple of years and look forward to an exciting new 4-H year, full of increased opportunities for youths and volunteers.

Other Leadership Responsibilities: Kaydence also serves as her club's junior leader for the rabbit project.

Favorite 4-H Experience: This year's county fair has been her favorite experience so far as she did well despite the competition and it being her first year as a 4-H senior.

2023 Cougar Invitational Meat Judging Contest Open to 4-H and FFA Members in Washington State

Paul Kuber

In an effort to create more food animal science opportunities in Washington state for youth (4-H and/or FFA) I have great news to share about the First Annual Cougar Invitational Meats Judging Contest, to be held March 18, 2023. This event will begin with a learner engaged clinic the day prior to the competition on WSU campus in Pullman (see attached) to be held March 17th. Registration and contest details will be released in early January and will be shared at that time. For information or to inquire about sponsorship opportunities, contact Dr. Blake Foraker, blake.foraker@wsu.edu or (509) 335-4112. Dr. Foraker is also preparing Washington State University Animal Science students to compete in collegiate meats judging on the national stage in 2023.

Holiday Prime Rib – Steak Fundraiser

A way that you can support the WSU team is through purchase of a Holiday Prime Rib or Steaks (see flyer HERE). The meat judging and meat animal evaluation teams are selling prime ribs during the holiday season. Proceeds from the sales will be used to offset costs incurred by the team to travel to and compete at the National Western, Fort Worth Stock Show, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, and National Meat Animal Evaluation Contest at Canyon, Texas.

PLAN NOW For Outbound International Exchange Opportunities Next Summer!

Carolyn Russo

Washington State 4-H aged youth have the opportunity to participate in the 4-H International Outbound exchanges taking place next summer to the countries of Costa Rica, South Korea and Japan.

Youth stay with host families to experience culture in ways that tourists are not able to. There are four programs being offered this summer in three countries. The traditional three-to-four-week cultural immersion experience will be offered in Costa Rica, South Korea and Japan. The fourth program is a unique opportunity to attend a Japanese language school in Tokyo. Youth will stay with a host family during the school for about a month and then change host families in another location for an additional 3-4 weeks.

Interested youth are invited to apply (online application can be found at <https://smr.to/p84038> by December 15, 2022). An interview is also part of the selection process. For more information please contact Carolyn Russo, carolyn.russo@wsu.edu or (509) 754-2011 x4309.

Youth Livestock and Poultry Biosecurity Learning Modules Updated

Pam Watson, M.Ed., WSU Lewis County Extension
4-H Youth Development Agent, WSU Faculty

By JOANNA CUMMINGS

Livestock and poultry are susceptible to infectious diseases and many of these diseases are zoonotic, meaning they can be transmitted to people. A few more well-known zoonotic diseases include ringworm, rabies, and soremouth. The most effective strategy for protecting farm animal health is to prevent or reduce the chances of introducing a disease into a herd or flock.

An online learning experience about livestock biosecurity was developed during a five-year livestock biosecurity grant project, directed by Animal and Veterinary Sciences Research Associate Professor Julie Smith. The result was the Healthy Farms Healthy Agriculture (HFHA) Biosecurity Learning Module Series. The learning modules are appropriate for students in grades 6 to 12, FFA and 4-H participants, college students studying animal science, and other agriculturally related youth groups.

The link for the learning modules, teaching guide, certificates of completion and more is <https://learn.healthyagriculture.org>.

The goal of the series is to create a new generation of biosecurity advocates. The first four modules help youth in agriculture discover biosecurity, the preventative measures that protect farm animals from the spread of infectious diseases. The last two prepare youth to communicate what they have learned with others. Topics for the six modules—plus a hands-on activity—include:

1. What is animal biosecurity – an introduction to biosecurity concepts.
2. Routes of infection and means of disease transmission.
3. Finding sources of disease transmission – students become biosecurity inspectors.
4. Farm biosecurity management plan – students learn how to develop a biosecurity plan.
5. Public speaking for biosecurity advocates I – students create a persuasive public presentation.
6. Public speaking for biosecurity advocates II – students learn how to deliver a persuasive speech.
7. A “SCRUB Kit” was also developed during the project, with hands on activities that complement the learning modules.

Updated learning modules were released in 2022, incorporating interactive elements and accessibility improvements.

Discovery learning is key to the design of the learning modules’ interactive curriculum. Students are presented with questions or tasks to complete to which they might not know the answers. They are also given supplemental information that introduces biosecurity concepts and helps the students make logical decisions. A printable guide is available for instructors with additional ideas and activities, career suggestions, and sets of homework and quiz bank questions. There are three paths available for interacting with the biosecurity learning modules:

1. A self-guided experience for students where the modules are hosted at Wisc-Online through Wisconsin's Technical Colleges system.
2. Learn as part of a course – this option is for learners who are assigned one or more modules to complete on their own as a course requirement.
3. Learn with a leader – club and group leaders guiding learners through any of the modules.
