Food Preservation Requirement Completion – Guidelines for 4-H Food Preservation Leadership

Jana Ferris

After further review, the following will be accepted as meeting the requirement of having completed food preservation training to leader 4-H Food Preservation Projects:

4-H Food Preservation, <https://extension.wsu.edu/4h/for-volunteers/volunteer-training/>

Master Food Preserver (MFP) – active participation in the program

Consumer Food Safety (CFS) – currently serving as a CFS advisor for WSU

To demonstrate serving as an active MFP or CFS, the supervising faculty, staff, or county director sends an email affirming your participation to the Extension Volunteer Development Specialist (ferrisj@wsu.edu).

Also, we will be reviewing the requirement in the next few months and determine what, if any, future training might be required. Stay tuned for further information.

Statewide 4-H Virtual Photo Club March meeting Scheduled for March 12th!

We held our second Statewide 4-H Virtual Photography Club meeting “Photographing Animals” on Feb. 12th at 2 PM. Thank you to those who joined us and participated. We recorded that meeting because the educational portion from the 2nd meeting is the photo challenge assignment for the next meeting. Please find the recording at: <https://bit.ly/3YRIFNb>

Our meetings are open to anyone interested in learning more about the 4-H photography project.

Our Third meeting will be on Sunday, March 12th at 2:00 PM. The pre-registration link for that meeting is <http://bit.ly/3IFWru3>

Welcome! You are invited to join a meeting: Statewide 4-H Photography Club, 3rd meeting.

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email about joining the meeting.

We will be learning about storyboards, journalism, and taking portraits of people. We will have our second critique using photos from our 2nd meeting photo challenge – Animal Photography.

If you would like to submit any photos for our critique at the 3rd meeting please e-mail them to Pam Watson at pwatson@wsu.edu as attachments by Friday, Mar. 10th, make sure you put in the subject line of the e-mail "4-H Photo Club." Each person may send up to three photos, keep in mind we may not get through them all. For now, keep working on the photo challenge assignment!

We will be recording this meeting. * Special note, time will spring forward for Daylight Savings on this day, be sure to set your clocks forward.

Check out this webinar series being offered by our colleagues at Rutgers.
Rutgers Equine Science Center

If you haven't yet registered for the free Virtual Horse Management Seminar webinar series make sure you do so now! The first webinar was on Wednesday, February 8th from 6:30 to 8:30 pm, on "Research Based Supplements."

For more details on all of the webinars, to learn about the presenters and topics, and to register, please go to: <https://go.rutgers.edu/2023HMS>

Just Added: For those who join us live on the webinar, Triple Crown has graciously offered to donate a door prize each evening. At the end of the webinar, we will randomly select a participant from the list of attendees. You must still be on the webinar when your name is called in order to qualify for the prize. From there, you will be contacted by Triple Crown via email to select a 'swag bag' door prize! The door prizes will include choices between product coupons; New Forage Tether Treats; and for those non-horse-owning participants, a backpack/hat/blanket combo!

Be sure not to miss out, and we look forward to seeing you there!

Ask Dr. Universe: Who Invented Games?

How do you become a scientist? Is being a scientist fun? Check out the latest episode of the Ask Dr. Universe podcast to hear one rad brain scientist talk about his career path and the curiosity that drives him.

Dr. Universe: Who invented games? Kinzie, 6, Ohio

Dear Kinzie,

Board games, video games, a long piece of yarn... I love them all. I took a break from batting around a catnip-filled mouse toy to talk about your question with my friend, Washington State University professor Jordan Clapper, who told me the answer is a mystery.

“That’s almost impossible to know—for some really fun reasons,” Clapper said. “Every culture has games. It even extends beyond being human. If you’ve ever seen a dog or a cat play, they’re playing a game. “

The earliest board game we’ve found is more than 4,600 years old.

Archaeologist Leonard Woolley dug it up in a tomb from Sumer (modern-day Iraq). That tomb was in the Royal Cemetery of Ur, so he named it the Royal Game of Ur.

It was obvious the board was a game. But nobody knew the game's rules. That's where Irving Finkel came in. He works for the British Museum. He's an expert in cuneiform—an ancient writing system of pressing marks into clay tablets. Finkel figured out that one tablet was the game's rule book. Now, people can play the Royal Game of Ur in printable form or online.

Clapper also told me about the first video game. It was called Tennis for Two. Scientist William Higinbotham wanted people to see that science is fun and useful. So, he invented a video game for a research show at his lab in 1958. It worked on a tool called an oscilloscope.

Brookhaven National Laboratory

“He programmed a light to move back and forth,” Clapper said. “There was this big chunky controller. It was probably the size of a Big Mac box. It had a button you pressed with a big ‘ker-chunk’ sound to send the ball back over the net to the other side.”

You might wonder why people invented games. Clapper said games are meaningful simply because they're fun. But they can also preserve and share cultural knowledge.

“Games can pass along stories,” Clapper said. “Games can do important cultural work or ask questions in unique ways.”

One of Clapper's areas of expertise is Indigenous games. I learned about the Skins Workshops. That program teaches Indigenous young people to bring traditional stories to video games. That's also what game developer Elizabeth LaPensée does with her games like When Rivers Were Trails and Thunderbird

Strike. Clapper told me Never Alone is a video game made by the Iñupiat Native people of Alaska. Nearly 40 elders and story tellers worked together to bring the story to life.

If you love games, you can even make your own.

“Anyone can make a game,” Clapper said. “Last year I was finishing a book I was working on and had a dream about a game I wanted to make. I took index cards and markers—and started making pieces. If you want to make games, go out and make them.”

Dr. Universe

Dr. Universe: Is it true that seven human years equals one dog year?

Cameren, 12, Kentucky

Dear Cameren,

Humans have kept dogs as pets for more than 14,000 years. That close friendship inspires scientists to explore questions like yours.

I talked about how dogs age with my friend Ryan Baumwart. He’s a heart doctor for dogs. He teaches in the veterinary hospital at Washington State University. I asked Baumwart if a dog year is equal to seven human years.

“I think it’s a good general rule,” he said. “But some larger breed dogs like bullmastiffs and Great Danes have a shorter lifespan of 6 to 8 years. So if you do the math, they get shorted. Then some small breed dogs like Chihuahuas seem to live forever.”

Baumwart told me most puppies reach their full height at about 6 months old. That’s also when their adult teeth come in. Then they start filling out and growing wider. Most dogs are fully grown at about 1 year old. They’re considered geriatric, or old, at about 7 years old.

That fits with the guidelines used by the American Kennel Club and American Veterinary Medical Association. They say the first year of a dog’s life equals 15 human years. The second year equals 9 human years. After that, each year equals 5 human years.

Some researchers say they figured out a more precise calculation. Mammal DNA changes a little bit as we get older. Scientists can use these tiny changes to map how dogs age. You can use a special calculator to figure out your dog's age using their method. If you love math, you can use their formula: multiply the natural logarithm of your dog's age by 16 then add 31. The method relies on Labrador Retriever data. It may not work well for very small or very large dogs. If you wonder why smaller dogs tend to live longer, you're not alone. Scientists wonder that, too. Baumwart says we simply don't know the answer yet.

We do know genes play a role in life span. Mixed breed dogs usually live longer than purebred dogs. Purebred dogs are more likely to inherit genetic diseases. Lifestyle and environment also make a difference. Dogs need exercise and a healthy diet. Baumwart said to choose dog food that meets the guidelines set by the World Small Animal Veterinary Association (WSAVA). He recommends talking with your veterinarian about dog food and other questions about your dog's health. They can tailor their advice to your specific dog.

Right now, Baumwart is part of the Dog Aging Project. The goal is to figure out how to help dogs live longer, healthier lives. The project will collect data from tens of thousands of dogs over 10 years. They're also testing a medicine called rapamycin that makes mice live longer. They want to know if this medicine could help dogs—and maybe even humans—live longer.

That's paws-itively awesome news for dogs and the people who have loved them for thousands of years.

Sincerely,
Dr. Universe

Opportunities In Virtual Horse Judging

Pat Pehling

While clinics and contests with live horses (and riders) are definitely more effective, sometimes it is difficult to find an acceptable location and/or arrange for enough suitable horses to create a contest.

Subscription service livestockjudging.com has over 100 classes on horses or performance. It is suitable for teaching judging, but also allows a subscriber to set up contests. Available classes include halter, reining, ranch riding, trail, western equitation, western pleasure, hunt/seat equitation and hunter under saddle.

Snohomish County has four Horse Judging events each 4-H year with live “live” and one Virtual. Each Contest includes 4 classes and written reasons on one class. While there is no option for reasons on the Virtual platform, the members are instructed to email their written reasons to a volunteer who is trained to evaluate the reasons.

livestockjudging.com scores each participants’ placings and results are soon available. The subscriber chooses the classes, determines the contest placing of each class or has a judge place the class (there are class placings available to view when deciding the official placing of each class), sets the times and dates of the Contest and gives directions to the participants. Participants can be “invited” or a PIN can be shared to allow access to the program. Contests can run for a couple hours or several days.

Since it is desirable for the Judging Contest to also be educational, the judge should always give reasons for placing classes at a Contest. On the Virtual Contest, it is recommended that written reasons be shared on whatever method of communicating with the youth is available at the county level. Some of the available classes do have reasons available.

Skagit County 4-H Clubs Fill Sandbags to Battle King Tides

In late December, Skagit County was especially hard hit by flooding along coastal areas. "King Tides" were responsible for many residents finding their homes and property underwater, and more of these high tides are expected this month. Skagit County Department of Public Works delivered a dump-truck load of sand and burlap bags for Samish Island Residents, at the request of a long-time resident.

On December 31st, coming to the aid of Samish Island residents, young people from the Burlington chapter of “Her-Ang-Dus” 4-H Club volunteered to fill sandbags.

- Stephanie Knutzen, “Her-Ang-Dus” 4-H Chapter Leader, and 4-H parent with her children Trygve and Hayden.
- Bill and Kali Howard, 4-H parents, with their children Jacob and James.
- Claire Collins, 4-H parent, with her children Jack and Luke.
- Andrea Ratfield, 4-H parent, with her children Esther, Jillian, Mae, and Henry.
- Jeremiah Hastings, 4-H volunteer.

Also filling sandbags on Samish Island during the King Tides were members of the Burlington Edison Roadrunners 4-H Club.

This project exemplifies the spirit of neighbors-helping-neighbors, and what the 4-H program stands for: Head, Heart, Hands, and Health.

Introducing Q and A Sessions for the Washington 4-H Horse Program!

Have questions about the Washington 4-H horse program? We are planning to have a monthly Q and A for leaders, parents, members, and staff on the third Tuesday of each month via Zoom from 6:30 to 7:30 pm. Zooms will start in February and run at least through June.

The first one will be Thursday, February 16th. No need to register...just come and join the zoom by 6:30 pm.

There will be no specific topics for this first zoom but will be around the theme/parameters of horses and youth development. It will be more than “what are the rules.” However, there will be time set aside for input on future topics for the subsequent Zooms. The Zoom meeting ID is 452-082-9765 with no passcode. You must have a zoom account to participate.

The meeting will be facilitated by Jennifer Leach, WSU 4-H Equine Specialist. If you need further clarification of the meeting, feel free to contact Jennifer at jleach@wsu.edu

Deadline Approaching for 4-H Scholarship Applications!

The application for 4-H Scholarships are now available in 4-H Online. The application is open to all active 4-H youth in the 12th grade who have been in 4-H for at least two years. Youth must be attending an accredited two or four-year college or university in the fall of 2023.

Applications must be submitted by March 15th, no later than 9:59 PM, via 4-H Online.

Emailed applications will not be accepted. No exceptions are made to this policy. Applications MUST BE COMPLETE, with submission of all five pieces included, in order to be considered. Each applicant will be considered for all Washington State 4-H Scholarships. These scholarships may be used at any accredited two or four-year college or university.

For more information on the application process, including requirements, tips and individual scholarship information, go to:

2023 Hippology Contest Registration Packet

We hope 4-H members will try both!!

Lodging Information for teams needing overnight accommodations:

- Camping is available at the Grant County Fairground, including RV spaces. Those interested in this option may make arrangements directly with the fairgrounds here: <https://www.gcfairgrounds.com/p/fair/fair-camping>
- For hotel accommodations, we recommend national name hotels with rooms that open to hallways rather than the outdoors.

As with all State 4-H Equine Contests, each county may select their teams in any manner they choose (e.g. County Contests, Tests, Tryouts, Attendance) and those teams are approved by the County 4-H Educator. Other members are welcome to attend to observe the Contest but only designated County Teams may participate.

The list of sources that state contest questions and materials will be drawn from has been condensed to those that are free and/or easily accessible in hopes that addressing accessibility challenges will increase participation in state equine knowledge contests. These sources are free downloads from our WA State 4-H website:

Having a county hippology program is not a requirement of registration for the state hippology contest. Recognizing that a county may have only one or two interested, eligible members, the following provision is provided:

- A county may combine with another county (or multiple counties) to form a team. If unable to coordinate with another county, you may register your county's interested members as individuals. The contest coordinator will form catch teams, if possible, and notify you. If impossible to form a catch team, individuals may compete independently in all phases except team problem solving. All contestants are eligible for overall individual awards.
- To provide additional support, a Prepare for State Hippology Zoom is scheduled for Sunday, March 26, 2 to 3:30 pm. All 4-H members are welcome to join, from those who are definitely planning to compete to those who aren't quite sure yet. Come learn about the competition so you can feel prepared to do your best! Supporting adults are very welcome! Register in advance for this meeting: <http://bit.ly/3CltFga>

Remember to Sign Up for 4-H Equine Science and Horsemanship Series Thursdays!!

We are excited to launch the 2022-2023 WA State 4-H Equine Science and Horsemanship Series!! Hosted virtually on the 4th Thursday of the month, December 2022 – December 2023 (*5th Thursday in November 2023, due to Thanksgiving) from 6:30 – 7:30 pm.

All are invited to attend to learn more about horses! Sessions will incorporate hands-on opportunities and fun learning games! Use this link to sign up and receive the zoom link: <https://bit.ly/WA4-HEquineScience>

Registered participants will be emailed a suggested supply list prior to each session for the hands-on component.

NOTE: Instructors are needed for some of our upcoming sessions. If you have interest in teaching, please contact kim.baker@wsu.edu | 425-520-3908.

We are interested in hearing from staff, equine professionals, and alumni of the horse program that would like to share their area of expertise with an audience of youth.

Interested parties should be prepared to share an overview of their topic and how they envision incorporating a hands-on component in a virtual format. More details about the review process are available upon request.

Thank you!
