The Washington State Noxious Weed Control Board adopted the 2023 Washington State Noxious Weed List on November 2nd, 2022, with no new species added for 2023.

Other changes made by the Washington State Noxious Weed Board, including modifications to WAC 16-750, may be viewed at: (<https://www.nwcb.wa.gov/whats-new>). The state list went into effect on January 1, 2023.

In order for this list to become accepted for San Juan County, it must be approved by the County Noxious Weed Control Board based on public input received at this meeting. The Weed Board requests the public's insights about local weed distributions as well as suggestions for the 2024 weed list, closing April 30.
