CLUB LEADER(S): This individual or team provides overall club support by working with officers, parents, members and other leaders to plan a successful 4-H club.

What is 4-H?

The 4-H program begins at the club level. Our 4-H members, parents and leaders meet monthly to have fun, learn and work together in project groups, club activities, special interest groups, and many events.

4-H belongs to the members, their families, and other interested adults who serve as volunteer leaders. Leadership is provided by the Washington State University Extension Service. The 4-H program is a joint effort of county government, Washington State University, and the United States Department of Agriculture.

4-H is a community of young people across America who are learning leadership, citizenship and life skills.

4-H is an informal educational program through which parents, other adults, and youth help young people develop confidence, social skills, decision-making abilities, and subject matter knowledge in a variety of project areas.

4-H and Washington State University Extension provides affirmative action and equal opportunity in education, programming and employment for all qualified persons regardless of race, color, gender/sex, creed, disability, religion, national origin, ancestry, age, sexual orientation, pregnancy, marital or parental, arrest or conviction record or veteran status.

Why get involved?

Through 4-H, members develop and practice important life skills. Members will:

- Make decisions and solve problems
- Build self-confidence
- Accept responsibility
- Have a good time that makes learning fun
- Feel a sense of belonging by being a part of a 4-H club
- Develop mastery while learning and practicing skills in areas of interest
- Become independent as they are given choices of what to do
- Have a spirit of generosity as 4-H clubs give back to their communities through service

4-H Basics

4-H is for the whole family where youth and adults come together to learn new things, meet new friends and have fun. Parents/guardians are encouraged to participate and attend meetings with their children.

Adults help by volunteering time and sharing talents. For example: driving members to activities, supporting project learning, chaperoning and being a positive role model.

COMMON MYTH:

"You need to live on a farm and have animals to join 4-H."

You do NOT need to live on a farm or own an animal to be in 4-H. Members participate in projects such as arts and crafts, robotics, photography, shooting sports, and so much more!

Clubs 4-H clubs have five or more youth from three or more families who are supported by 4-H leaders. 4-H members, elected by their peers to officer roles, conduct club meetings.

Costs The Washington State 4-H Program assesses an annual $25 4-H Enrollment Fee for each youth member. Some 4-H clubs may also have local dues. Costs associated with project material are minimal. Some projects and activities have specific costs associated with them. Fundraisers and scholarships help offset costs to keep programs affordable.

Meetings Club meetings include: getting to know other members, youth making decisions about activities, planning and doing community service projects, sharing ideas, recreation and having fun.

Project Learning

Some projects have extended learning experiences and activities such as dog training, horse events, robotics, and shooting sports.

Fundraisers

Fundraisers are operated by the leaders, members, and parents with 100% of the profit used to support and offset the cost of youth participation.

The main fundraisers are:

- Paper Clover Campaign: Twice each year the local Tractor Supply Company holds a Paper Clover Event. 4-H clubs are invited to participate in store by greeting customers or providing a display.
- Cowboy Breakfast: 4-H friends and families enjoy catching up over a hearty breakfast during the Grays Harbor County Fair.

4-H Beyond the Club and County Level

4-H is a state and national program. As members mature in their 4-H experiences, state/national/international opportunities become available.
