

The impact of incarceration on Black families

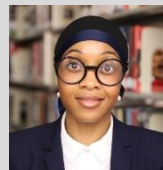

Thursday October 29 | 4pm

Live at: <https://youtu.be/IBtg6uWqM0o>

What happens when families face the incarceration of loved ones? How do families with an incarcerated family member, particularly a parent, develop resilience? Join our experts live as they discuss how these issues impact Black families.

Shenique Davis is assistant professor at the City University of New York (CUNY) Borough of Manhattan Community College.

Bahiyah Muhammad is associate professor in the department of sociology and criminology at Howard University.

Thank you to our cosponsors

Alpha Phi Sigma Criminal Justice Honors Society, Black Student Union, Black Women's Caucus, Criminal Justice Graduate Student Association, the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology, Department of Sociology, School of Languages, Cultures, and Race, the School of Politics, Philosophy, and Public Affairs, and Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies