

WELCOME ALISON WHITE

Hi, my name is Alison White and I am your new 4-H Regional Specialist for Yakima and Klickitat Counties. I was born in Yakima, and my family has strong ties to the local ranching and tree fruit community. Growing up in eastern Washington I was surrounded by animals, large and small, and had continuous sewing, art and cooking projects in the works. I still enjoy the same hobbies I loved as a child, but now I also spend many weekends hiking, fly-fishing and gardening with my husband. While earning a B.S. in Natural Resource Sciences, concentration in Wildlife Ecology, from Washington State University I worked as a preschool teaching assistant, and it was there that I fell in love with youth development. After graduating from WSU (Go Cougs!), I continued on to receive a Masters in Education focused on Curriculum Creation and Instruction of Environmental and Community Education. Over the last eight years I have held many meaningful positions within the fields of youth development, education and community building. Although, none have been as exciting as this opportunity to work hard for and be a part of the Yakima County 4-H family. One of my first big tasks within this new position is to connect with our members, parents, leaders and council representatives to uncover what our strengths are, and also what areas we could improve upon. I am looking forward to meeting you, sharing ideas and working together to build the Yakima County 4-H program!

– Alison White

WHOSE JOB IS IT?

This is a story about four people named Everybody, Somebody, Anybody and Nobody. There was an important job to be done and everybody was asked to do it. Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it. Somebody got angry about that, because it was Everybody's job. Everybody thought Anybody could do it but Nobody realized that Everybody wouldn't do it. It ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when Nobody did what Anybody could have done.

BANNER BANK EMPLOYEES

Hello 4-H Members and Leaders! Yakima County 4-H is wondering if we have any volunteers who are employed by Banner Bank. If we have a Banner Bank employee volunteer, it opens up donation avenues for our program. If you know a Banner Bank employee who would be a great volunteer for us to recruit, please contact Jenny or Alison at 574-1600. Thank you.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT CONFERENCE

KYG 2013 was a blur of tours, judicial procedure, and new faces. Four days goes by a lot faster than you'd think when you're that busy, and everybody knows that having fun certainly seems to speed up time. We all learned a lot from our attorney mentors, from methods of thoroughly confusing witnesses to strategies for pretending to know what you're talking about. Our mock trials went unbelievably well, fueling discussion for the whole rest of the conference and facilitating some funny memories. We made friendships in our workshops and courtrooms that went beyond the structured sessions, well into the dance and hang out time. I know that for myself, the friends and memories made this year at KYG will follow me through future participation in the judicial system and the rest of my life. – KYG Delegate, Cassie Riel

Member manual #EM4787, How to Make a 4-H Public Presentation is available in the Extension Office. The leader manual is EM4788. Pre-registration forms were sent out in the February Focus newsletter. More registration forms and score sheets are available for download on the 4-H website.

- A. Title: Choose a short, interesting title that gives a hint of the subject of your demonstration, but doesn't tell the whole story.
- B. Introduction: A good introduction will get your audience interested in your demonstration.
 1. Be sure to introduce yourself.
 2. Tell your audience why you want to demonstrate this particular thing.
 3. Tell your audience how important it is for them to learn what you are doing and what you are going to demonstrate.
 4. If your method will save time and effort, explain how much time and effort can be saved.
 5. If your demonstration will show people a way to save money, explain how much they can save by doing it your way.
 6. Explain how easy it is to do it this way.

7. Originality is good – use your own creativity. For example, you may want to use a question to begin your demonstration.

C. Body: The body is the part of the demonstration in which you tell and show how to do something.

1. Have your steps in a logical order and show all the steps as you tell and show how to do something.
2. In each step tell what you are doing, how you are doing it and why you are doing it.
3. Talk about what you do, rather than do what you talk about.

D. Summary: In the summary, review briefly the important parts of your presentation.

1. There are generally two or three main points and you can briefly summarize the details on these points. Don't re-state your entire demonstration.
2. Exhibit your finished product, if you have one.
3. Have recipes, materials or plans available to hand out.
4. Tell where you got your reference material and information.
5. Ask for questions. For example: "This concludes my presentation. Are there any questions?" Be sure to repeat the question before answering.
6. At the conclusion of the question period, thank the audience for their attention.

E. In a Presentation:

1. Use your own words and speak clearly.
2. There is no need to memorize your presentations. Cue cards with only key words may be used.
3. Look at the audience and talk to them. Speak in a conversational tone.
4. Let the audience see plainly every step of the demonstration. Be careful not to place things between the audience and you. Have a table beside you on which you keep extra equipment.
5. Tell where you obtained your information.
6. If you don't know the answer to a question, rather than give the wrong answer, you could say that you do not know the answer but you will try and find it.
7. Charts must be neat and should be printed. Use dark lettering that is visible at 20 feet.
8. Display charts only when you are talking about the subject that is on the chart.
9. Dress appropriately for the task you are doing. Always be neat and clean.
10. Avoid chewing gum. It is difficult to speak clearly with gum in your mouth.
11. Be enthusiastic and SMILE!! ☺

VOLUNTEER HOURS REPORTING

Volunteers, please remember to report your Volunteer hours on the Volunteer Hours database at <http://ext.wsu.edu/Volunteers/default.aspx>.

If you experience problems reporting your hours, please send the following information: Location of Activity, What the Activity Was, Date of Activity, and Start and end time of activity to Bonnie.Abercrombie@co.yakima.wa.us and she will input the hours for you.

Washington State law requires that all volunteers working in support of WSU programs are covered by worker compensation insurance. The Washington State Department of Labor and Industry uses the dates and number of hours that volunteers work to determine the amount of insurance that must be purchased to adequately cover our volunteers. To be in compliance with State Law, WSU Extension has developed an online tool to facilitate collection and analysis of volunteer contributions. The system will be sequentially launched to each WSU Extension volunteer-based program.

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The National Leadership Conference will be June 16-23, 2013. The National Leadership Conference is an 8-day conference for high school and college students, held in June at Miniwanca in Shelby, Michigan. Bringing hundreds of participants from across the nation, NLC offers a dynamic and diverse community that inspires people to discover and develop their personal best. Using time-tested curriculum relevant to today's young people, you will participate in large group and small group activities. These activities are specifically designed to provide you with an opportunity to both learn and practice leadership skills essential for any of life's vocations. Being that NLC is based on a four-year, progressive leadership curriculum, everyone coming to NLC for the first time will become a member of a "class," much like in school. Your class will be given an identity through a name and class colors. Each year you return to Miniwanca you will rejoin your classmates until graduation.

The AYF brings an asset-based approach to its programming and that culture is very much present at NLC. You will only be asked to present your best self to those around you, and that best self will be universally and unquestionably accepted. AYF does not seek to define what "best" is for its participants; rather, we will provide you with ample opportunity to explore, discover, and develop what your best is and how you can share that with those around you and the wider world. For more information and registration process please visit the website <http://www.ayf.com/nlc>.

COUGER YOUTH WEEKEND

The WSU Dairy Club would like to invite youth aged 8 to 18 to join them at the Knott Dairy Center in Pullman, WA for a weekend of learning about the Dairy Industry and fitting and showing heifer calves. This weekend long event includes a tour of a WSU facility, workshops ranging from reproduction to nutrition to dairy products. On Saturday, participants can choose to either participate in a workshop on showmanship or dairy judging.

Those who choose to show will spend time working with a heifer calf using the skills they have learned. The event culminates in a mock-showmanship competition on Sunday.

Those who choose to judge will focus on visual appraisal of dairy animals and oral reasons describing their appraisal of each animal. The event culminates in a mock-dairy judging competition.

All participants will receive feedback from the mock-judges of their competition so that they can continue to improve after the weekend ends. The program strives to provide dairy knowledge for participants of all ages and levels, including parents who attend, and an opportunity to meet and build relationships with others in the dairy industry.
