

Outstanding Project Award Winner Announced at the 2022 Extension Risk Management Education National Conference

Project Director Michael Patrick receiving his award from Western Center Director, Shannon Neibergs.

The Western Extension Risk Management Education Center is excited to announce that Michael Patrick, along with Jesse Jim – Project Field Coordinator and Kelle Lantana – Project Field Specialist was awarded the 2022 Outstanding Project Award for the Western Region at the 2022 ERME National conference in Omaha, Nebraska.

The Project, Navajo Agriculture and Natural Resources Sustainability Project, increased the profitability and sustainability of 242 Navajo ranchers by reducing their production, marketing, financial, legal and human risks through a series of workshops, webinars, “how to” videos and technical assistance.

The full story is published on the Western Center’s website on the Home Page under Project Successes.

