About the Ruckelshaus Center

The William D. Ruckelshaus Center is a joint effort of Washington State University, and the University of Washington.

Our mission is to help parties involved in complex public policy challenges in the State of Washington and the Pacific Northwest tap university expertise to develop collaborative, durable and effective solutions.

Our impartial guidance allows public, private, tribal, nonprofit, and other leaders to build consensus, resolve conflicts, and develop innovative, shared solutions.

The Center is hosted and administered at WSU by WSU Extension and hosted at UW by the Daniel J. Evans School of Public Policy and Governance.

Who We Are

We are guided by an Advisory Board which includes prominent leaders representing a broad range of constituencies from across Washington, and both chambers/parties in the Legislature.

We have offices in Seattle and Pullman. Our core faculty and staff consist of experienced facilitators and project managers, along with operations, development, and communications professionals. The Center also provides internship opportunities, helping to prepare the next generation of collaborative leaders.

What We Do

- Provide a neutral and safe forum for parties to constructively define shared goals and resolve difference.
- Conduct a situation assessment to determine whether and how parties should proceed with a collaborative approach.
- Provide facilitation, mediation, dispute resolution, project management, strategic planning, and other services that help parties reach consensus and resolve issues.
- Provide diverse groups with a common information base via university research and fact finding.
- Provide knowledge, training, and tools to improve the collaborative problem-solving abilities of individuals and organizations.
- Host policy discussions in the form of guest lectures, conferences, and our Chairman's Circle and Statesperson luncheons.

WSU Extension and UW Evans School of Public Policy and Governance programs and employment are available to all without discrimination.
