Background

Responsibilities

I was in charge of overseeing the development of the grapes of three brands: Charles Smith, Hogue Winery, Spoken Barrell. My job consisted of driving to various vineyards and checking on the quality of the grapes. Looking for diseases and pests, as well getting estimates for harvest, do cluster counts, stay connected with growers.

Internship

Overall this internship was one of the best one's

• I had the ability to communicate with different growers all around Washington was really interesting.

• This internship physically demanding because of the amount you have to walk usually around 6 miles a day

• This internship has been the most rewarding for me because I had to learn how to communicate to the growers and to the winemakers what was happening out in the fields.

• I do highly recommend this internship.
