COMMENCEMENT MISSION STATEMENT

Commencement at Washington State University represents the culmination of a student's academic achievement. It is a time for celebration and reflection for students, families, faculty, and staff. It brings together the campus community to share the joy of the accomplished goals of our students.

The commencement ceremony at Washington State University serves a dual purpose: to mark a point of achievement, thus completing a chapter in the lives of students and those who support them, and to encourage continued pursuit of learning, personal fulfillment, and engagement with local and worldwide communities.

CONGRATULATIONS, AND ALL THE BEST

Your hard work, curiosity, and persistence have brought you to this moment. You and your family and friends should be immensely proud of your achievement.

Now, diploma in hand, you are well-equipped to open doors to exciting new opportunities as the next chapter in your life begins.

As you celebrate during today's festivities, I hope you will resolve to stay connected to the Cougar family. As you well know by now, once a Coug, always a Coug. You can count on Cougs everywhere to support you throughout your professional and personal journey in the years ahead.

Again, congratulations. I am delighted to share the joy of this day with you. On behalf of the Washington State University Board of Regents and the entire WSU statewide system, I wish you every success in all of your future endeavors.

Go Cougs!

Washington State University

BIOGRAPHY

Kirk Schulz is in the midst of his third year as president of Washington State University. He became the 11th president of WSU and a tenured professor in the Gene and Linda Voiland School of Chemical Engineering and Bioengineering on June 13, 2016, after a seven-year tenure as the president of Kansas State University.

President Schulz is leading a major institutional initiative focused on making WSU one of the nation's top 25 public research universities by 2030. The Drive to 25 is focused on creating a transformative educational experience for students and accelerating development of a preeminent research portfolio.

Maintaining the momentum of the Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine is also one of the president's top priorities. The college welcomed its second class of 60 medical students in August, another milestone in the University's efforts to change the face of health care in Washington.

The University has recorded significant achievements under President Schulz's leadership, enrolling a record 31,478 students system-wide in 2018, earning reaccreditation accompanied by numerous commendations, and opening several new teaching and research facilities designed to advance WSU's land-grant mission.

This fall, President Schulz was named as the Pac-12 representative to the College Football Playoff Board of Managers. The board governs the playoffs' business, property, and affairs, as well as developing annual budgets, policies, and operating guidelines.

JEANNETTE MAGEO
 PROFESSOR OF CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY
 CHAIR OF THE WSU FACULTY SENATE

Dear Graduates,

Speaking for the Washington State University faculty, let me congratulate you on attaining your degree. We well know how much work and commitment carrying a program of study through to a degree requires. This commitment has meant planning but also taking life on faith and dreaming and having the courage to dream—dreams that are both dazzling and daunting. I have long taught a course to WSU undergraduates called the Self and Culture in which we explore our dreams—here I mean literal dreams, night dreams—although these dreams so often concern my students' metaphorical dreams, their hopes for their futures, especially because this is a 400-level course and many of the students are about to embark on these futures. Students often feel that they are at a precipice. Indeed one young woman whom I call Lois and who was about to graduate dreamt she was cornered on a high cliff by a dragon, which was purple and green by the way, and a witch. She trembled there terrified. These images stretched back into her past, to remembered children's songs and Halloween costumes, to memories of when fear was fun and of beloved others and thus also suggested a counterweight to fear. Today, my friends, you are facing your own dragons and demons. Yet they are not only harassing you but, like Lois's witch, summoning sweet if fraught memories of past challenges and victories and offering you a gift that has always awaited you at the precipice—opportunity.

Lois thought her dream meant she had to choose: she could confront the dragon or the witch, or jump. This dilemma dramatized the impossibility of the scary life choices she then faced. Indeed, for better and for worse, choice is the overriding character of American social life in our age—a wealth of choices, too many choices, everywhere you turn: 20 different kinds of coffee, more! 20 different kinds of everything, many more! Your future will offer you a wide array of such choices, large and small. However fraught they are with financial and emotional risk, you cannot avoid them. It will be your dreams for yourself and for the American society of which you are a part that will give you the courage to choose and to dare. When it comes to the future, the question is how to execute those choices, which is far from always clear. Your dreams for your life and for the American social world of which they are so intimate a part present a wide array of choices and a feeling that you must choose, knowing you will make mistakes—mistakes that are and will be costly both financially and emotionally but those dreams also dare you to brave all that to win.

There is a people in Melanesia called the Senoi who, at least once, took counsel from their dreams every morning. Their children had to climb high trees to gather coconuts and other fruits and would often have falling dreams. Parents would tell them, "The falling spirits love you; next time go with the falling spirits and see where they take you—you may find something to bring back to your tribe." Their children's falling dreams became flying dreams. Heights, after all, invite two things, falling and flying. You, like Lois are at a cliff, a precipice, and it is time to discover you can fly. It is time to fly off into this crazy, hard-to-navigate but also alluring and inviting world of ours. Existentialism was one of the most important philosophies of the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries. One of its fundamental tenets was that you have choice—that is the essence of your freedom—but also that your only real limit is time, your lifespan, your waking hours, however you want to figure that time. All of you bump up against this limit daily—in the modern American world there is never enough time. But please remember that until you die, no choice, no direction is irreversible. It all begins not only from today but also yet again tomorrow—although you will also reap power and hazard from all the choices you've already made.

So fly away my friends and bring back something for your tribe. In these last four years you have become thinkers, seekers, and creators. The future will demand all these things of you and will also give you the great gift of scope to exercise them. Today is a milestone and one of your most important beginnings. You are all richer and, I hope, better human beings for your education—you know more and you see more than you did four years ago; your knowledge, but also your awareness and insights have expanded. It is time to go and profit from all you've accomplished in developing your minds, your talents and capacities, and yourselves as people. We hope that the joy you have today at this so-important, so life-determining accomplishment will help spring you into your futures. Our greatest hopes are with you on this flight because we know the future belongs to you. We will wait with great anticipation to see the originality, vast energy, and insight you bring to it.

Our most sincere best wishes,

CHAIR, ADMINISTRATIVE
PROFESSIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL

Dear WSU Graduates,

I am honored to write to you on this momentous day—one that will live forever in your hearts. It is your time to relish in your accomplishments while looking forward to the next chapter in your lives. For many of you, the thought of leaving behind the rolling hills of the Palouse feels bittersweet, but it is the culmination of everything you have worked so hard to achieve.

There is no greater satisfaction for the WSU administrative professional staff than to witness all your successes and share this moment with you. You have earned your place here today through your hard work, tenacity, and determination. You have spent late nights working on projects; built strong, meaningful friendships; and connected with faculty and staff who have inspired you and whom you have inspired. We are blessed and honored to have been able to cheer you on during your journey.

As you watch Pullman disappear in the rearview mirror, you will reflect on the many treks made across campus. You have cultivated life-long bonds, experienced triumphs and heartbreak, and gained deeper knowledge and insight into the world around you and a wealth of other experiences that have shaped who you are today. Always hold those memories close while you forge ahead and add value to the world. No matter where your path takes you, remember: You will always have a home in Pullman.

Former first lady Michelle Obama once said, “Success isn’t about how much money you make. It’s about the difference you make in people’s lives.” When you leave here today, remember these words and be the sun who brightens someone’s day or the moon that shines the light in their darkest hour—both equally important and impactful.

On behalf of the Administrative Professional Advisory Council, congratulations on all your accomplishments, and Go Cougs!

All of the long days and seemingly endless nights have culminated in this moment where you can look back and celebrate every step of your journey. Commencement marks one of the most joyous landmarks on your academic path; you should reflect on this moment.

From here, we all begin our own journeys. COMMENCEMENT 2018

Washington State University cordially welcomes all who have come to the Pullman campus for the 18th annual Fall Commencement to honor the graduating class of 2018. To class members, the class of 2018, the University would like to acknowledge your accomplishments and congratulate you all.

Commencement is the special occasion where students are recognized for their academic achievements. These achievements are reflected in their transcript, an official document certifying the completion of academic requirements. The culmination of a student's success at WSU comes with the arrival of their diploma, which is mailed after the ceremony.

The first WSU commencement ceremony, held on June 24, 1897, recognized a total of eight students. Today we honor more than 800 students from varying states, U.S. territories, and countries.

WSU enrolls 31,478 students statewide. This includes 18,355 undergraduates and 2,667 graduate and professional students learning at the Pullman campus, and 7,863 undergraduates and 2,593 graduate and professional students at the other campus locations of Everett, Spokane, Tri-Cities, Vancouver, and the Global Campus (online). WSU is also privileged to support 10,624 first generation college students in their academic journey. Washington State University is proud of a growing family of Cougar alumni and is honored to celebrate their achievements.

DISCLAIMER

The names of the degree recipients are announced in random order as they approach the readers. Students will be viewed on big screens as their names are read.

Names in the Fall 2018 Commencement program include August 2018 degree candidates and December 2018 degree candidates who met the application deadline.

Appearance of a name in this program is presumptive evidence of graduation and graduation honors, but it must not in any sense be regarded as conclusive. Notation on the university transcript remains the official testimony of degree possession.

The program is not a listing of those attending the ceremony.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia arose through evolution and modification of the robes worn by medieval students, who were usually clerics in the cathedral schools and monasteries established by the church. As early as 1321, a medieval statute required that all doctors, licentiates, and bachelors wear academic gowns and hoods. Gowns were necessary for warmth in the unheated medieval buildings, and hoods may have been designed to cover tonsured heads. Today, immediately after receiving a charter, new institutions adopt a distinctive design for academic attire expressive of their individuality.

On May 26, 1895, a group of institutional representatives met at Columbia University to establish a uniform code for academic regalia in this country.

The approved academic attire for all graduates is composed of a cap and gown. For master's and doctoral graduates, a hood is included. The basic article of attire is the gown, usually black in color, and similar in design for all degrees with the sleeves being the principal indicator of degree level. Gowns for those graduating with a bachelor's degree have pointed sleeves; the sleeves on master's gowns arc away at the front; and doctoral gowns have round, bell-shaped sleeves. Bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed while doctoral gowns feature distinctive velvet facing down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve.

The hood has become the colorful standard-bearer of academic symbolism. By examining the hood, an informed observer should be able to identify the degree level, the academic field of study in which the degree was earned, and the institution that conferred the degree. The hood is made of the same material as the gown. Hood length varies according to degree: bachelor's—three feet, master's—three and a half feet, and doctor's—four feet in length and has panels at the sides. The color or colors of the hood lining indicate the institution that conferred the degree (crimson and gray for WSU). The hood is trimmed or edged in a border of velvet either two, three, or five inches in width for the respective degrees. The border color represents the faculty or field of study in which the degree was awarded. At WSU, bachelor's degree candidates do not wear hoods.

The approved cap of the academic costume is the mortarboard or Oxford cap—a stiff board nine inches square, placed on a soft cap and joined in a pointed design in front and back. The color is always that of the gown and uniformly black for the four-year degrees. The use of velvet has been reserved for the cap of the doctoral degree. A silk cord with a tassel made of many threads is attached to a button in the center of the board.

A distinctive commencement rental gown for students earning Ph.D., Ed.D, and DNP degrees debuted in spring 2012. The gown is crimson with gunmetal-gray velvet accents and a matching velvet tam. WSU is the only university with a custom rental gown. The purchased version of the custom gown is designed with a split hood, two silver WSU shield medallions holding the hood in place, two WSU medallion cufflinks on each sleeve, and other embellishments.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The University Mace, a traditional symbol of authority, will lead the processional today. The mace is carried by the chair of the Faculty Senate with an honor guard consisting of the presidents of the undergraduate and graduate and professional student associations. Jeannette Mageo carries it today, accompanied by Savannah Rogers, president of the Associated Students of WSU, and Amir Gilmore, president of the Graduate and Professional Student Association of WSU.

Created in 1985, the two-foot-long, nine-pound scepter is cast in silver and bronze and features a globe atop a laurel branch, wrapped in a silver ribbon and inscribed "Washington State University." According to designer and craftsman Tim Doeblner of WSU's Department of Fine Arts, "the globe represents the universality of education and the quest for knowledge. Laurel crowns were presented to academicians by the ancient Greeks."

The anvil is a symbol of forging and molding education, rather than forcing it upon students.

PHOTOGRAPHY COVERAGE

Photography and video will be available through After Image Visual Services. Proofs will be mailed to each graduate's permanent address and will also be posted online at gradphotos.biz/wsu. DVD video of the entire ceremony and individual digital video clips will also be available to order through the website or the mailed proofs. Phone: 509-332-0964, email: graduations@gmail.com, and mailing address: P.O. Box 8836 Moscow, Idaho 83843.

ALMA MATER

Washington, my Washington,
the Crimson and the Gray!

'Tis the song of memory that we sing today.

When the sad hours come to you and sorrows 'round you play,

Just sing the songs of Washington,
the Crimson and the Gray!

Just sing the songs of Washington,
the Crimson and the Gray!
