COMMENCEMENT
THURSDAY, MAY 4, 2023
Congratulations on your accomplishments!

Congratulations, Class of 2023, on completing the requirements for an academic degree from Washington State University. It is an honor to celebrate the achievements that brought you to this significant moment.

I applaud your efforts, as well as those of everyone who helped you reach this pivotal day. During an unprecedented time in our history, you remained steadfast in your commitment to your education. You adapted, persisted, and embodied the resiliency that Cougs are known for around the world. Your potential is unlimited.

After today, you will play an important role in the health and wellness of some of society’s most vulnerable individuals. It is an honor and a responsibility that will require you to do more, to go beyond what you thought you were capable of in the service of someone else. The communities you will serve will look to you, and I challenge you to be their champion as you go on to address society’s most pressing health care needs for a healthier tomorrow.

Thank you for sharing these years with us. As you begin the next step of your journey, remember that you are always a Coug. The University, your WSU friends and colleagues, and Coug alums will always be there to support you and cheer you on. Best wishes and more than ever, Go Cougs!

Congratulations, you have earned it!

Congratulations on your accomplishment! It is a tremendous privilege to share this exciting and special day with you and celebrate your hard work, dedication, and commitment to yourself and your community. It is also a day to honor those who have helped make you successful, believed in you, and invested in you as we send you off on a new journey.

Today, as you prepare to enter the healthcare profession, we want to remind you of the importance of your role in our society. You are not just medical professionals but also advocates, educators, and compassionate caregivers. You are the ones who will make a difference in the lives of patients and families.

As you step out beyond WSU Spokane, know that our reputation as a world-class research and health sciences campus continues to rise in part due to your success. You will always have a home and family here at Washington State University. In the future, I hope you will stay connected to the university, to the faculty and staff who have mentored you, and to the friends with whom you have shared this time.

I challenge each graduate to take their educational experiences and seize the opportunity to make a difference in the world. This is your moment, and no one deserves it more. Congratulations, you have earned it.

MESSAGE FROM THE INTERIM DEAN

Today is a day to honor and celebrate your achievements as graduates in Speech & Hearing Sciences, Nutrition & Exercise Physiology, and Medicine. I applaud your hard work, discipline, and commitment to reach this major milestone, and appreciate the contributions of your families and communities that supported you on your journey.

There are many who have walked alongside you – some visible and some invisible – to make this day possible. Community members, steadfast in their commitment to seeing Washingtonians living longer, better lives, have contributed counsel, resources, and partnership to help us provide an excellent health care education. Legislators, donors, and supporters have remained passionate and constant in the belief that you will lead us to a healthier tomorrow.

Our faculty and staff have brought their expertise and passion into each classroom and clinical setting. They have strived to create an innovative educational experience that has prepared each of you to be the health care leaders of the future.

And your loved ones, who have remained committed to the best investment of all: you. They have cheered you on and supported you as you studied and trained, struggled and succeeded.

To each, I say thank you. Thank you for all you have done and continue to do.

To our graduates, you have committed yourself to a career of service and care for our communities – the young and old, the rural and urban, the underserved and vulnerable. And we at the WSU College of Medicine have been honored to partner with you in that commitment. I am inspired by your stories of triumph and challenges overcome, as well as your passion to serve the health and wellbeing of our communities.

Thank you for being a part of the WSU Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine, which was founded to be bold, audacious, visionary, and innovative in helping you reach your greatest potential and in serving the state of Washington. Your unique journey is now part of ours, and we are confident you will do great things.

ELSON S. FLOYD COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

Mission
To solve problems in challenging health care environments across the state of Washington.

Vision
Washingtonians living longer, better.

About the College
The Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine is Washington’s community-based medical school. Named after WSU’s late president, Dr. Elson S. Floyd, the college was created to expand medical education and health care access in communities across the state.

The college offers degree and certificate programs in Medicine, Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, Speech and Hearing Sciences, Health Administration and Leadership, and Medical Ethics, as well as graduate medical education programs. In addition, the college is home to groundbreaking research that impacts communities locally and across the world.

The Elson S. Floyd Legacy
Elson S. Floyd was the 10th president of Washington State University, serving from May 21, 2007, until his passing on June 20, 2015.

During his tenure, Floyd garnered bipartisan support in the Washington state legislature to approve WSU to start a medical school.

Recognized for his transformative and visionary leadership, Floyd’s pursuit to create WSU’s own separately accredited, four-year medical school led to the university to create the Elson S. Floyd College of Medicine.
