Policy Title: Admissions Conflict of Interest Policy

Policy Number: AD.10.04.170425

Applies to: Individuals involved in the admissions process for the MD program.

Date: 02/06/2024

1.0 Policy Statement
All Admissions Committee members, screeners, interviewers, and all others involved in the MD admissions process must report all real or perceived conflicts of interest immediately upon learning of the real/perceived conflict of interest. The College of Medicine takes appropriate steps to mitigate the effect of any conflicts of interest.

2.0 Definitions
Conflict of Interest (COI): A personal, academic, financial, or other relationship with an applicant or applicant’s family that may influence selection decisions.
Conditional Acceptance Pathway Program: a pathway program within the College which is approved by the Admissions Committee to grant conditional acceptance into the MD program via the pathway.
Interviewer: Refers to trained individuals in the College who conduct either live-virtual one-on-one interviews or who asynchronously rate recorded responses from applicants to scenario prompts. “Interviewer” is used in this policy to refer to both roles unless called out specifically.

3.0 Responsibility

Office of Student Experience (Admissions Unit)

4.0 Procedures:

Awareness of the Conflict of Interest Policy
- An annual mandatory orientation prior to the start of the interview season for all new and returning Admissions Committee members, screeners, interviewers, and all others, including staff, faculty, and students, involved in the admissions process is required.
- Admissions Committee members receive a comprehensive Admissions Committee handbook containing Committee and college-related documents and information regarding all other relevant policies and procedures.
- New Admissions Committee members may not participate in any admissions-related activities until orientation/training is successfully completed.
- Admissions Committee members, interviewers, and screeners sign and return acknowledgment of the Conflict of Interest Policy and Code of Ethics.

• Each Admissions Committee member acknowledges, annually, that they have read, understand, and will comply with this policy.

Determination of Conflict of Interest

• Applies to any individual who informs admissions decisions: Admissions Committee member, screener, and/or interviewer.
• Present in the following circumstances:
  o Related to the applicant; or,
  o Is or has been in a significant teaching, clinical, or social relationship with the applicant or applicant’s family; or o Has a personal or financial interest related to the applicant.

Avoidance of Conflict of Interest

• Admissions Committee members, screeners, and interviewers are required to report any real or perceived COI encountered during the admissions process to the Vice Dean for Admissions, Student Affairs, and Alumni Engagement as soon as they are aware it exists.
• If there is doubt or question about whether a conflict exists, the concerned individual must seek the counsel of the Admissions Committee Chair(s) and/or the Vice Dean for Admissions, Student Affairs, and Alumni Engagement.

Procedure Following Declaration of Conflict of Interest

• Once a COI is identified and reported, the Admissions Committee member is removed from any aspect related to the applicant’s selection decisions. Specifically, they will not screen, review, or interview the applicant, and if present at the Admissions Committee meeting at which the applicant will be discussed, they are required to physically leave the room during the discussion of that applicant (if present in-person) or will be placed in a virtual waiting room if attending the meeting virtually. COI recusals from committee processes are documented in meeting minutes.
• Admissions Committee members who have a declared COI for a conditional acceptance pathway program will be removed from all decisions for the entire pathway cohort for that cycle (both entry into the pathway and during the formal application process to the College).
• Screeners who are not members of the Admissions Committee will not screen or interview an applicant with whom they have a declared COI.
• Interviewers who are not members of the Admissions Committee will not interview or rate an applicant for whom they have previously declared a COI. If an interviewer realizes a conflict exists during the live interview, they will note on the interview rubric that they have a COI and report it to the admissions team as soon as they complete their interviews for the session/day. The admissions team also pulls a report after each interview day to review reports of COIs by interviewers. The Admissions Committee will be instructed not to consider the interview assessment from an interviewer with a COI. If an interview rater (conducted asynchronously) identifies a COI when they begin rating, they will notify the admissions team who will reassign that applicant’s recorded session to a different rater.

- Records of COIs and identified failures to report are kept in the Admissions Unit in the Office of Student Experience along with Conflict of Interest and Code of Ethics forms. If an Admissions Committee member, screener, or interviewer knowingly fails to report a COI, they may be dismissed from their role in the admissions process.

- Scoring trends from individual Admissions Committee members are reviewed following each Committee meeting and throughout the cycle for possible bias which will be explored further.
