Career Planning Resources

Psychology is the study of human behavior which can lead to numerous career possibilities. And not all careers require you to go on to graduate school. That is why we suggest that you begin exploring different career paths early in your undergraduate career. The earlier you begin the better prepared you will be to start your career or graduate school after you complete your Bachelor’s. Below you will find a list of resources to help you get started:

- Psych Dept. Career Planning Resources page
- Meet with a Career Counselor in the ASCC
- Talk to your professors
- Talk to your advisors
- Psych 201-Degrees and Careers in Psychology (1 credit course)
- Psych Facebook page (check out the videos section for past career presentations)
- Use your electives strategically (Elective taking leads to career making)
- Study Abroad
- Conduct informational interviews
- Read the newsletter! We often advertise job opportunities/internships

Graduate School Resources

So you have determined that your desired career path requires a graduate degree. Now what? Many graduate programs are competitive so preparation is key to making yourself standout as an applicant. Below are some resources to help get you started:

- Psych Dept. Graduate School Resources page
- Join the Psych Club
- Talk to the Psych Mentors
- Participate in Research labs and use the Office of Undergraduate Research
- Take courses that help build your research skills (i.e. English 201, Univ 199)
- Read your newsletter! We often advertise about upcoming graduate school information sessions
- You can find printed copies of our graduate school packets in JT 221
Yale Fellowship in Translational Developmental Neuroscience

What: The Yale Fellowship in Translational Developmental Neuroscience at the Yale Child Study Center and Cogstate is recruiting highly qualified students for an intensive joint pre-doctoral fellowship for current graduates or graduating seniors interested in a combined clinical and research career in autism intervention.

When: The position will commence June 2022. The fellowship is one year in duration, a second year of employment is conditional on progress made in the first year

Eligibility Requirements

Eligible candidates are college graduates who will have obtained a bachelor's degree by June 2021. While previous relevant experience is preferred, applicants from a wide variety of backgrounds are encouraged. U.S. citizenship is not a requirement of the fellowship.

Please note that this fellowship is not offered concurrently with graduate studies. However, we do hope that the fellowship will serve as an important stepping-stone towards future medical or graduate studies.

Fellows starting salary will be $35,700/year

Application Information

For more specific questions, interested applicants should contact Dr. Pamela Ventola (pamela.ventola@yale.edu). Electronic submissions are preferable. A complete application includes 1 copy of each of the following items:

- Resume or CV
- Transcript, undergraduate and graduate (if applicable)
- A 2-page personal statement containing biographic material, relevant experience, and career goals - can be single or double spaced
- Two letters of recommendations should be emailed to pamela.ventola@yale.edu. The recommender should include the applicants full name in the subject line.
- Interested students should send their CV, personal statement, and transcript to Pamela Ventola (pamela.ventola@yale.edu).
