Psych Students,

We are now in week 13 and there are only 3 more weeks of instruction left in fall semester! Since next week is Thanksgiving Break the next newsletter will be sent on Monday, November 28. We hope that you enjoy a week off and come back ready to finish the semester strong!

Here are some of the highlights for the week:

- There is an opportunity to study abroad in Barcelona next summer. See page 5 to learn more.
- Remember your Psych peer mentors are available Monday-Friday in JT 221 and on Zoom to answer registration questions.
- The IMPACT lab in Human Development is looking for a couple research assistants (page 4)
- PsychSquared is meeting on Nov. 15 (page 3)
- This week is Transgender Awareness Week and Nov. 20 is Transgender Day of Remembrance
- Friday, November 18 is the last day that you can withdraw (W) from a course

Happy Reading!

Undergraduate Research Assistant Opportunity

The IMPACT Lab in Human Development is seeking undergraduate research assistants for a variety of research-related tasks. The internship will begin in January 2023 until May 2023, with the potential to renew the internship.

The Undergraduate RA will assist in various research-related tasks and experiences potentially including the following, and other related tasks:

- Develop data collection tools (e.g., surveys, interview protocols)
  - Collect and analyze quantitative and qualitative data
- Gain experience in managing data sets and applying statistical methods

To Apply, please complete this form: https://forms.gle/8XaRq48fBCeeBcyR7

For Questions: Contact Cassandra Watters at Cassandra.watters@wsu.edu

Students of all backgrounds and abilities, especially those from historically underrepresented groups, are encouraged to apply.
Study Abroad in Barcelona: Summer 2023

Summer 2023 courses:

- HD 350 [DIVR]: Family Diversity (3 cr) – prerequisite = Sophomore standing
  - This course is open to all students and can be used to satisfy the UCORE diversity requirement, an upper-division elective, and/or a course in the HD minor and major options.
  - HD 498: Field Experience (3 cr) – prerequisite = HD 497; admitted certificate or major in Human Development; senior standing
    - This would be a great opportunity for students pursuing an additional major in Human Development to complete their required internship experience while also having the opportunity to study abroad. The internship abroad is a 5-week program. When HD students complete this major requirement in any other format, the minimum requirement is 10 weeks, so students crunched for time can complete the internship faster on this faculty-led trip. Students interested in HD 498 should check in with me first.

Here are a few important links:
