

Victor Charoonsophonsak

Victor Charoonsophonsak is passionate about innovation and entrepreneurship. He currently works at Accenture in their Strategy & Consulting group and is based out of their Seattle office. Prior to WSU, Victor spent his childhood in Alaska, growing up in the northern most point of the United States, in a rural town called Barrow. He is a recent graduate of the Honors College, having graduated from WSU in 2017 with a Bachelors in Mechanical Engineering. During his time at WSU, he was engaged in a variety of ways across campus, including his involvement in Undergraduate Research, ASWSU, and Residence Life among other organizations. Outside of his professional aspirations, Victor enjoys making a delicious meal, eating good food, and staying active.
