

Lindsey Elhart is a senior data analyst at Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle. In this role, she analyzes a variety of healthcare related datasets to explain truths in deeper ways. She is passionate about making social impacts and is involved in several women in global health organizations. Lindsey is a 2014 WSU and Honors College alumna, as well as an Honors College Board Member and Alumni Association Chapter President.