

the air is soft

i adore the way she sees-as if everything is alive speaking in a poet's tongue all my knots undone.

she hums lullabies while her fingers pretend they know how to play piano down my spine she's among the divine.

i adore her rainbow mind as it leaks out into the atmosphere the air is soft up here.

and so is she.